Art Unit: 1793

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 3, 6 and 13-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by US 3,894,572 to Moore, Jr. (see for example, col. 2, lines 29-37 and col. 11, line 45 through col. 12, line 18).

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 2, 4, 5 and 7-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 3,894,572 to Moore, Jr.

With respect to claims 2 and 4, it is conventional to apply a seal coat in the investment shell mold (see, for example, US 4,204,872 to Hayati et al.) and to use a rainfall sander for depositing refractory particles onto the slurry coating layer (see, for example, US 4,223,716 to Ostrowski). With respect to claims 5, 7, 9, and 10, it would have been obvious to obtain the optimal coating material and the process parameters through routine experimentation. With respect to claims 8, 11 and 12, Moore does disclose to mix or coat the refractory particles with gelling agent (see col. 22, line 46 through col. 12, line 18). Thus, to combine the mixing and coating step is deemed to be nothing more than an obvious matter of design choice.

Art Unit: 1793

5. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

6. Claims 1-15 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-20 of copending Application No. 10/523,855 in view of either US 3,894,572 to Moore, Jr.

The claimed invention of the copending application substantially shows the invention as claimed except the pre-mixing step. However, Moore and GB ‘161 show that feature to be conventional. It would have been obvious to pre-mix the refractory particles with the gelling agent prior to applying the same onto the slurry coating in view of the conventional practice.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection.

7. Applicant's arguments filed November 20, 2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant's main argument is that the patent to Moore does not disclose gel-forming material absorbs moisture after contact with the coating layer. However, in col. 11, lines 59-68 of the patent, it states that solid setting agent is mixed with the refractory grain and the mixture is employed as stucco. The solid setting agent possesses certain degree of moisture absorption property though the degree of the absorption may be different from that of the instant gel-forming material.

8. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
